BBCHS Parents and Guardians,

My intention with this letter is to clarify concerns regarding the new sex education standards which are part of Public Act (P.A. 102-0522), also referred to as SB 818.

The health curriculum we currently teach has served our students and community well and we feel no need to make changes at this point in time. District administrators will continue to review new state standards and guidance in order to align curriculum moving into the 2023-2024 school year. The law states that school districts may adapt the curriculum to the specific needs of their community as long as instruction and materials do not conflict with the law and we believe we are in compliance with this language.

It's important to note that sex education is covered in two outcomes of the semester long health curriculum in District 307. The health curriculum also focuses on many other important aspects of personal health, mental health, drugs, nutrition, and safety.

Consistent with state law, parents and guardians continue to have the option to opt their children out of sex education instruction by submitting an opt-out form that has always available on our website.

Sincerely,

Matt Vosberg, Ed. D.
Superintendent
